Domains of the Conceptual Framework:

In creating an effective educational environment all educators must:

- establish environments for positive development of learners;
- demonstrate professional knowledge and skills;
- establish environments for academic achievement; and respond to the school and community. Educators must have knowledge of students, subject areas and levels, strategies, technologies, and the diversity of societies and communities to prepare effective educational environments. The theme allows the educator to develop skills and knowledge in the areas of the five domains (in no rank order):

- diverse students;
- diverse strategies;
- diverse technologies;
- diverse societies/communities;
- diverse subjects and levels.

Candidate Dispositions:

Dispositions identified for student assessment were:

- Interaction with students (IWS)
- Professional and ethical practices (PEP)
- Effective communication (EC)
- Planning for teaching and student learning (PTSL)
- Sensitivity to diversity and equity (SDE)

Interaction With Students (IWS)

Interaction with students encompasses those behaviors that evidence the candidate’s regard for the learners. These include acts of fairness, respectful tone of voice, positive use of humor, and interest in students as individuals.

Professional and Ethical Practices (PEP)

Professional and ethical practices are often the most easily observed of the dispositional behaviors. Respect for the professional environment is evidenced through acceptable dress and grooming, and timeliness, not only in arrival and departure, but in completion of tasks.

Effective Communication (EC)

Easily identified as a skill domain, effective communication within a dispositional framework refers to one’s regard for honest, fair, and accurate communication. Effective communication encompasses the belief that teachers must model effective communication for their students.

Planning for Teaching and Student Learning (PTSL)

Planning for teaching and student learning in the dispositional arena refers to the beliefs about student learning and how these are evidenced in the acts of planning and teaching.

Sensitivity to Diversity and Equity (SDE)

Sensitivity to diversity and equity goes beyond the acknowledgement or awareness of differences in the classroom or community. A positive disposition in this area may be evidenced by seeking out alternative materials, careful use of appropriate language and naming, equal disbursement of resources, and a lack of ethnocentric or gender-specific generalizations.
