You can teach a student a lesson for a day;
but if you can teach him to learn by creating curiosity, he will continue the learning process as long as he lives.

More than 150 years ago Americans struggled with issues of slavery, race, freedom, equality, states' rights and America's future. In the 1858 Illinois Senate race, as the country steamrolled toward an enormous and costly civil war, Abraham Lincoln and Stephen Douglas embarked on a series of debates. Their epic clash of ideas and oratory forged a future president and a nation. Without access to television, bloggers and podcasts, the debates were witnessed live by thousands, and written reports were transported by railroad and telegraph across the country. A local race quickly became the focus of a divided country, whose future was on the line. The Rivalry, Norman Corwin's riveting depiction of the Lincoln-Douglas debates, uses dialogue from the original transcripts to bring to life the fierce competition between the future president and the incumbent senator as they tackled the day's most controversial issues—slavery and the American concept of freedom. The play eloquently reminds us of a time when substantive political debate engaged Americans in a way that screeching talking heads and the blogosphere cannot, and underscores the impact of words and their effective communication in shaping public policy. This is a Doudna Fine Arts Center New and Emerging Artist Series program.
