

FACULTY DEVELOPMENT
LILLY CONFERENCE 2008 ATTENDEE

Dr. Pat McCallister
Professor, Family and Consumer Sciences
Klehm Hall 2010
217-581-6351
pmccallister@eiu.edu

Dr. McCallister earned her B.S. and M.S. from Southern Illinois University, Carbondale and her Doctorate in Adult Education with specializations in International Education, Higher Education Law, and Qualitative Research. Beginning in 1972, she taught at Bowling Green State University, Ohio and Georgia College and State University before coming to Eastern Illinois University in 1989. She has taught, completed sabbaticals or given international presentations in Brazil, Australia, Czech Republic, Cuba, Germany, France, China, Japan, Puerto Rico and Italy. Her last sabbatical was in Santa Fe, NM where she studied Native Indian culture and housing. She is a certified paralegal, earned a Master of Online Certification from the University of Illinois and is currently earning advanced paralegal certification. Other activities include CASA advocate, Underwriter's Laboratories Consumer Advisory Council, AHEE Board, United States Tag on Social Responsibility, Meth Coalition, and Charleston Historical Planning Commissioner.

