

Suzanne Enck-Wanzer

Suzanne Enck-Wanzer is in her second year teaching at EIU. Hailing from the Department of Communication Studies, Suzanne is also active in Women's Studies, serving on the Executive Committee of that program. Receiving her PhD from Indiana University in an interdisciplinary program of rhetorical theory, media/film studies, and ethnographic research, Suzanne studies representations of gendered violence (primarily domestic violence and rape) in the U.S. context. Committed to blending academia with activism, Suzanne is also on the Board of Directors with HOPE and the Advisory Board of SACIS where she hopes to bring her theoretical research into conversation with questions of victim hood, agency, and collective efforts to reduce violence.
