

Transportation corridors have always been controversial. Some people view the built environment as a thing of beauty, while others feel it is a blight on the natural landscape. Look at the artwork below, decide whether you think the artist considered each particular corridor beautiful or ugly, and explain why.

Log Home on the Farm, by Robert Root

1.

2.

Image of I-57. Courtesy of Champaign County Historical Society

Image of Mattoon, IL, by Tiffany Taylor

3. Look at the picture of the corridor to the left.
What do you think about it and why?
