JUNE

Dark red roses in a honeyed wind swinging,
Silk-soft holly-hock, coloured like the moon;
Larks high overhead lost in light, and singing;
That's the way of June.

Dark red roses in the warm wind falling,
Velvet leaf by velvet leaf, all the breathless noon;
Far-off sea-waves calling, calling;
That's the way of June.

Sweet as scarlet strawberry under wet leaves hidden,
Honeyed as the damask rose, lavish as the moon,
Shedding lovely light on things forgotten, hope forbidden,
That's the way of June.

Dark red ros - es in a hon - eyed wind swing - ing,

Silk - soft hol - ly - hock, col - oured like the moon;

Larks high o - ver - head lost in light, and sing - ing;

The first system of the musical score consists of a vocal line and piano accompaniment. The vocal line is in a treble clef with a key signature of one flat (B-flat). The lyrics are "Larks high o - ver - head lost in light, and sing - ing;". The piano accompaniment is in a grand staff (treble and bass clefs) with a key signature of one flat. It features a steady eighth-note accompaniment in the bass and chords in the treble.

That's the way of June. poco rit.

The second system continues the musical score. The vocal line has the lyrics "That's the way of June." followed by a long note. The piano accompaniment continues with the same eighth-note pattern. The tempo marking poco rit. (poco ritardando) is placed above the piano part.

The third system begins with the tempo marking mp a tempo above the vocal line. The lyrics are "Dark red ros - es in the warm wind fall - ing;". The piano accompaniment has the marking a tempo below it. The musical notation remains consistent with the previous systems.

a little slower
Vel - vet leaf by vel - vet leaf, all the breath - less noon;

The fourth system starts with the tempo marking a little slower above the vocal line. The lyrics are "Vel - vet leaf by vel - vet leaf, all the breath - less noon;". The piano accompaniment continues with the eighth-note accompaniment. A triplet of eighth notes is marked with a '3' above it in the vocal line.
