Procedure

All employees and students are encouraged to come forward with any concerns regarding discrimination. Even if you are unsure if you have a discrimination complaint, contact the Office of Civil Rights and Diversity/Title IX Coordinator (OCR). It is the responsibility of faculty chairpersons, other administrators, and supervisors to inform the OCR about any potential instances of sexual harassment or other forms of discrimination. Failure to report could itself be a violation of this policy and/or university expectations.

No retaliation may be taken against any university employee or student who seeks redress under this policy.

Initially, the party seeking assistance will be asked to complete an intake form which will include a description of the allegations of discrimination. Both mediated resolutions and formal investigation procedures may be used to address complaints.

Mediation Process

The Office of Civil Rights and Diversity will arrange, with the consent of the parties involved, for information to be shared between the parties regarding applicable issues and appropriate remedies. Through this process, the parties may agree on a resolution, however, each party retains the right to ratify or reject any proposed agreements. Complaints of sexual harassment in the form of sexual violence or assault may not be resolved informally or through a mediation process.

Formal Fact Finding Process

A complainant shall submit a complaint in writing to the Office of Civil Rights and Diversity, stating the nature of the alleged discrimination and the desired remedy. In safety concerns, the OCR can recommend immediate, temporary remedies while the investigation and fact-finding process is underway. It will investigate complaints in a timely, equitable manner. Investigators within the Office of Civil Rights and Diversity/Title IX are neutral factfinders. Both the complainant and the respondent will have the opportunity to supply evidence and identify witnesses. The university applies the preponderance of the evidence standard. Complainants and respondents are notified concurrently of the outcome of an investigation. Both the complainant and the respondent may appeal the findings to the university president.

Complaints must be submitted within 300 days after the alleged discrimination has occurred in order to permit a prompt resolution. The OCR retains discretion to address complaints older than 300 days in unusual circumstances, but in no event will review a matter that occurred three years or more from the date of the complaint.

The investigation of a complaint, including attempts at informal resolution, ordinarily will be completed within sixty (60) business days, after receipt of a complaint. If the investigation cannot be completed within sixty (60) business days, the complainant, and other parties as appropriate, will be notified as to the delay.
