Unit Theme: EDUCATOR AS CREATOR OF EFFECTIVE EDUCATIONAL ENVIRONMENTS: INTEGRATING STUDENTS, SUBJECTS, STRATEGIES, SOCIETIES AND TECHNOLOGIES

Graduate Mission Statement:
The Department of Early Childhood, Elementary and Middle Level Education seeks to advance scholarly preparation by providing quality teaching and promoting excellence in research/creative activity in order for graduate students to exemplify best teaching practices for children from birth through age fourteen.

The Department is dedicated to the preparation of knowledgeable citizens of the 21st century and seeks to empower individuals to meet the challenges faced by professional educators in a rapidly changing society. Candidates for the Master of Science in Education Degree will be prepared to teach in diverse environments recognizing multiple pathways of learning.

The Department is committed to enhancing the graduate academic experience in order to create educators who can function effectively in a culturally diverse, technologically advanced, and global environment in order to engage learning at all levels.

Outcomes for all Graduate Students at Eastern Illinois University:
Graduate students will:
1. Possess a depth of content knowledge including effective technology skills and ethical behaviors;
2. Engage in critical thinking and problem solving;
3. Exhibit effective oral and written communication skills;
4. Engage in advanced scholarship through research and/or creative activity;
5. Demonstrate an ability to work with diverse clientele, recognizing individual differences; and
6. Collaborate and create positive relations within the school, community, and profession in which they work.

Course Description: A critical analysis of language arts instruction with emphasis on the organization of the program, content, materials, and procedures (3-0-3).

Purpose of the Course: This course will provide knowledge and skills which will help teachers to understand the language development of children and how to help elementary pupils attain skill and confidence in listening, speaking, reading, writing and thinking so that they may be effective in using 21st century literacy skills in communicating thoughts and ideas.

Teaching Models:
Information-Processing Models
Information-processing models emphasize ways of enhancing the human being's innate drive to make sense of the world by acquiring and organizing data, sensing problems and generating solutions to them, and developing concepts and language for conveying them. (pp. 25-28)

Social Models: Building the Learning Community
When we work together, we generate a collective energy that we call synergy. The social models of teaching are constructed to take advantage of this phenomenon by building learning communities. Essentially, “classroom

The thematic unit is an option provided for graduate students who do not currently have access to a classroom in which to implement the “Theory into Practice” project.

The competent language arts teacher knows a wide range of strategies to assist students in developing effective spoken (listening/speaking), written (reading/writing), and visual (viewing/visually representing) language to accomplish their own purposes (e.g., for learning, enjoyment, persuasion, and the exchange of information).

The competent language arts teacher knows a wide range of quality literature from many periods in many genres.

The competent language arts teacher knows a wide range of strategies that can be used to comprehend, interpret, evaluate and appreciate texts.

The competent language arts teacher knows how to adjust spoken, written, and visual language (e.g., conventions, style, vocabulary) to communicate effectively with a variety of audiences and for different purposes.

Performance Indicators:

- The competent language arts teacher employs a wide range of strategies to assist students in developing effective spoken (listening/speaking), written (reading/writing), and visual (viewing/visually representing) language.

- The competent language arts teacher applies knowledge of language structure, language conventions (e.g., spelling and punctuation), media techniques, figurative language, and genre in order to create and discuss print and nonprint texts.

- The competent language arts teacher applies effective techniques to assist students whose first language is not English to make use of their first language to develop competency in the English language arts and to develop an understanding of content across the curriculum.

- The competent language arts teacher uses technology to support classroom instruction.

*The thematic unit is an option provided for graduate students who do not currently have access to a classroom in which to implement the “Theory into Practice” project. The thematic unit will include:
- major goals/objectives;
- an introductory activity;
- a minimum of ten activities/lessons/projects (i.e., that include the Illinois Learning Standards addressed, materials required and a description of the activity/lesson/project);
- a culminating activity;
- method(s) of evaluation/assessment; and
- resources/materials.

NOTE: The unit should be designed to address the six language arts while integrating content from the various disciplines (i.e., math, science, social studies, arts, music, etc.).

| Shareshop Presentations (i.e., two presentations) | The student will prepare two oral presentations or “shareshops”. Although both presentations must incorporate children's/young adolescent literature, the first will highlight listening and speaking (i.e., an Oral Language Shareshop) and the second will address the writing process (i.e., a Writing Shareshop).

The graduate student will...
- describe and/or demonstrate the language arts project or activity developed;
- identify the Illinois Learning Standards being targeted and explain how they will be addressed;
- share the related children’s/young adolescent literature with the class;
- provide samples of student work; and
- distribute a summary of 2 X 25 = 50 points (10%) | Students will sign up for two dates. Sign-up sheet will be available on September 1st. |
