PART II: ASSURANCE OF STUDENT LEARNING

1. List the student learning objectives of this course:

- Identify and describe the major actors, events and developments in sea transport during the period from 1450-1850
- Explain and analyze how piracy arose to resist the authority of nation-states
- Introduce students to interdisciplinary studies and the use of primary sources
- Synthesize information from a variety of primary and secondary sources in a series of written assignments and class presentations that will develop critical thinking

a. If this is a general education course, indicate which objectives are designed to help students achieve one or more of the following goals of general education and university-wide assessment:

- EIU graduates will write and speak effectively.
- EIU graduates will think critically.
- EIU graduates will function as responsible citizens.
 1. Written exams and primary source analyses will help students to write effectively. (GE)
 2. Discussion groups will help students learn to speak effectively. (GE)
 3. Interpreting and analyzing primary and secondary sources will hone students' critical thinking skills. (GE)
 4. Interpreting the motivations and experiences of travels will help students understand mutual (mis)understanding between differing cultures, thus preparing them for responsible global citizenship. (GE)
 5. Comparing and contrasting diverse people in global context will develop cultural awareness in students (including issues of cultural distinctiveness and difference, i.e., ethnicity, race, gender, sexual orientation, disability) and prepare them to function as responsible global citizens. (GE)

b. If this is a graduate-level course, indicate which objectives are designed to help students achieve established goals for learning at the graduate level:

- Depth of content knowledge
- Effective critical thinking and problem solving
- Effective oral and written communication
- Advanced scholarship through research or creative activity

n/a

2. Identify the assignments/activities the instructor will use to determine how well students attained the learning objectives:

Mid-Term Examination
 Final Examination
 Three Written Essays
 Two Quizzes
 Class Participation

3. Explain how the instructor will determine students' grades for the course:

Student achievement of the stated objectives [including GE objectives] will be evaluated based on the following activities and grades assigned according to the given percentages:

	Mid-Term and Final Examinations (30% and 20%)	Three Written Essays (5, 10, and 15%)	Two Quizzes (5% each)	Class Participation (10%)
Writing Effectively	X	X	X
Speaking Effectively				X
Critical Thinking	X	X	X	X
Responsible Citizen	X	X		X

Analyzing primary and secondary sources	X	X		X
Interpreting the development of cultural, social, and political interactions.	X	X	X	X
Comparing and contrasting diverse people in global context	X	X	X	X

- 4. For technology-delivered and other nontraditional-delivered courses/sections, address the following:
- Describe how the format/technology will be used to support and assess students' achievement of the specified learning objectives:
 - Describe how the integrity of student work will be assured:
 - Describe provisions for and requirements of instructor-student and student-student interaction, including the kinds of technologies that will be used to support the interaction (e.g., e-mail, web-based discussions, computer conferences, etc.):

The electronic version of HIS 1524G will be delivered via EIU's on-line course delivery software (Elluminate and/or Web CT—or its replacement). The course site will include student learning objectives, brief lectures illustrated with powerpoints (through Elluminate), reading assignments and/or links to supplemental readings, discussion prompts that facilitate class response and electronic discussion.

The integrity of student work will be assured by creation of questions that require analysis of specific Sources, and integration of those sources into the written responses. This should make plagiarism difficult and obvious. Examinations will be open book, but based on questions that require crucial analysis and synthesis of primary and secondary sources. Written papers will be evaluated for plagiarism with Turnitin or other similar plagiarism detection software.

- 5. For courses numbered 4750-4999, specify additional or more stringent requirements for students enrolling for graduate credit. These include:
- course objectives;
 - projects that require application and analysis of the course content; and
 - separate methods of evaluation for undergraduate and graduate students.

n/a

- 6. If applicable, indicate whether this course is writing-active, writing-intensive, or writing-centered, and describe how the course satisfies the criteria for the type of writing course identified. (See Appendix *.)

Provide clear and sufficient details about content and procedures so that possible questions of overlap with other courses can be addressed. PART IV: PURPOSE AND NEED

1. Explain the department's rationale for developing and proposing the course.

HIS 1524G is being developed as part of an overhaul of the World History component of the General Education curriculum. The shift is away from broad, undefined survey courses and toward defined surveys around specific historical topics or issues in world history. The narrower focus will permit these courses to better develop critical thinking skills and model historical interpretation by concentration on a set of specific issues appropriate to the given topic. The courses will also better alert students toward the specific themes of a given courses, allowing students to select topics that will more directly engage their interests.

HIS 1524G in particular focuses on issues of travel and trade that shaped the modern world as individuals increasingly engaged with people outside of their own civilizations. Such a focus allows students to engage directly with issues about cross-cultural interaction, colonialism, labor, and social order as Europeans in particular sought to tame the unruly seas.

- a. If this is a general education course, you also must indicate the segment of the general education program into which it will be placed, and describe how the course meets the requirements of that segment.

HIS 1524G is part of the general education curriculum under the "Humanities" section of the Humanities and Fine Arts segment for the following reasons:

1. History is a Humanities discipline located in the College of Arts and Humanities.
2. HIS 1524G focuses on reading and interpreting historical sources and data within the tradition of humanistic scholarship.

b. If the course or some sections of the course may be technology delivered, explain why.

The technologically-delivered version of HIS 1524G will be delivered to fill the need Continuing Education has identified for on-line general education courses that satisfy the Humanities section of the Art and Humanities segment of general education.

2. Justify the level of the course and any course prerequisites, co-requisites, or registration restrictions.

HIS 1524G is general education course that requires no prerequisites.

3. If the course is similar to an existing course or courses, justify its development and offering.

- a. If the contents substantially duplicate those of an existing course, the new proposal should be discussed with the appropriate chairpersons, deans, or curriculum committees and their responses noted in the proposal.
- b. Cite course(s) to be deleted if the new course is approved. If no deletions are planned, note the exceptional need to be met or the curricular gap to be filled.

HIS 1524G replaced HIS 1520, which is to be deleted from the curriculum.

4. Impact on Program(s):

- a. For undergraduate programs, specify whether this course will be required for a major or minor or used as an approved elective.

n/a

- b. For graduate programs, specify whether this course will be a core requirement for all candidates in a degree or certificate program or an approved elective.

n/a

If the proposed course changes a major, minor, or certificate program in or outside of the department, you must submit a separate proposal requesting that change along with the course proposal. Provide a copy of the existing program in the current catalog with the requested changes noted.

PART V: IMPLEMENTATION

1. Faculty member(s) to whom the course may be assigned:

Newton E Key, Charles Foy, and any other qualified faculty

2. Additional costs to students: None

Include those for supplemental packets, hardware/software, or any other additional instructional, technical, or technological requirements. (Course fees must be approved by the President's Council.)

3. Text and supplementary materials to be used (Include publication dates):

Rainer F. Buschmann, Oceans in World History (Boston: McGraw-Hill Publishers, 2009)
Racine, Karen, and Beatriz G. Mamigonian. The Human Tradition in the Atlantic World, 1500-1850.
(New York: Rowman & Littlefield Publishers, 2010).

PART VI: COMMUNITY COLLEGE TRANSFER

If the proposed course is a 1000- or 2000-level course, state either, "A community college course may be judged equivalent to this course" OR "A community college course will not be judged equivalent to this course." A community college course will not be judged equivalent to a 3000- or 4000-level course but may be accepted as a substitute; however, upper-division credit will not be awarded.

A community college course may be judged equivalent to this course

PART VII: APPROVALS

Date approved by the department or school: 10/13/11

Date approved by the college curriculum committee: 11/30/11

Date approved by the Honors Council (if this is an honors course):

Date approved by CAA: 3/8/12

In writing-active courses, frequent, brief writing activities and assignments are required. Such activities -- some of which are to be graded -- might include five-minute in-class writing assignments, journal keeping, lab reports, essay examinations, short papers, longer papers, or a variety of other writing-to-learn activities of the instructor's invention. Writing assignments and activities in writing-active courses are designed primarily to assist students in mastering course content, secondarily to strengthen students' writing skills. In writing-intensive courses, several writing assignments and writing activities are required. These assignments and activities, which are to be spread over the course of the semester, serve the dual purpose of strengthening writing skills and deepening understanding of course content. At least one writing assignment is to be revised by the student after it has been read and commented on by the instructor. In writing-intensive courses, students' writing should constitute no less than 35% of the final course grade. In writing-centered courses (English 1001G, English 1002G, and their honors equivalents), students learn the principles and the process of writing in all of its stages, from inception to completion. The quality of students' writing is the principal determinant of the course grade. The minimum writing requirement is 20 pages (5,000 words).
