PART II: ASSURANCE OF STUDENT LEARNING

- 1. List the student learning objectives of this course:

- a) Identify and describe the major events in twentieth-century world history.
- b) Explain and analyze the relationship between the key issues of totalitarianism and imperialism/decolonization.
- c) Introduce students to interdisciplinary studies and the use of primary sources.
- d) Synthesize information from a variety of primary and secondary sources in a series of written assignments that will develop critical thinking.

- a. If this is a general education course, indicate which objectives are designed to help students achieve one or more of the following goals of general education and university-wide assessment:

- EIU graduates will write and speak effectively.
- EIU graduates will think critically.
- EIU graduates will function as responsible citizens.
  1. Written exams and primary source analyses will help students to write effectively. (GE)
  2. Discussion groups will help students learn to speak effectively. (GE)
  3. Interpreting and analyzing primary and secondary sources will hone students' critical thinking skills. (GE)
  4. Interpreting the origins and development of the twentieth century will help students understand the events that most immediately shape our world today, thus preparing them for responsible global citizenship. (GE)
  5. Comparing and contrasting diverse people in global context will develop cultural awareness in students (including issues of cultural distinctiveness and difference, i.e., ethnicity, race, gender, sexual orientation, disability) and prepare them to function as responsible global citizens. (GE)

b. If this is a graduate-level course, indicate which objectives are designed to help students achieve established goals for learning at the graduate level:

- Depth of content knowledge
- Effective critical thinking and problem solving
- Effective oral and written communication
- Advanced scholarship through research or creative activity

n/a

2. Identify the assignments/activities the instructor will use to determine how well students attained the learning objectives:

Research Paper 30%

Three written exams 15% and 20% and 20%

Map quizzes 10%

Class participation 5%

3. Explain how the instructor will determine students' grades for the course:

Student achievement of the stated objectives [including GE objectives] will be evaluated based on the following activities and grades assigned according to the given percentages:

	Written Examinations (3) 55% (15%, 20%, and 20%)	Research Paper (30%)	Map Quiz (10 %)	Class Participation (5%)
Writing Effectively	X	X
Speaking Effectively				X
Critical Thinking	X	X		X
Responsible Citizen	X	X	X	X
Analyzing primary and secondary		X		X

sources
Analyzing the events and development of the twentieth century	X	X		X
Comparing and contrasting diverse people in global context	X	X	X	X

4. For technology-delivered and other nontraditional-delivered courses/sections, address the following:
  - a. Describe how the format/technology will be used to support and assess students' achievement of the specified learning objectives:
  - b. Describe how the integrity of student work will be assured:
  - c. Describe provisions for and requirements of instructor-student and student-student interaction, including the kinds of technologies that will be used to support the interaction (e.g., e-mail, web-based discussions, computer conferences, etc.):

5. For courses numbered 4750-4999, specify additional or more stringent requirements for students enrolling for graduate credit. These include:
  - a. course objectives;
  - b. projects that require application and analysis of the course content; and
  - c. separate methods of evaluation for undergraduate and graduate students.

n/a

6. If applicable, indicate whether this course is writing-active, writing-intensive, or writing-centered, and describe how the course satisfies the criteria for the type of writing course identified. (See Appendix *.)

Writing-Intensive. The course includes a research paper accounting for 30% of the final grade and written examinations accounting for 55%. One of the writing assignments will include the provision for it to be revised after commented upon by the instructor.

PART III: OUTLINE OF THE COURSE

Provide a week-by-week outline of the course's content. Specify units of time (e.g., for a 3-0-3 course, 45 fifty-minute class periods over 15 weeks) for each major topic in the outline. Provide clear and sufficient details about content and procedures so that possible questions of overlap with other courses can be addressed. For technology-delivered or other nontraditional-delivered courses/sections, explain how the course content "units" are sufficiently equivalent to the traditional on-campus semester hour units of time described above.

Sample course schedule

Week 1 -- The World in 1900; Colonialism, Nationalism, and other "isms": Setting the Stage

Week 2 -- World War I in Europe; World War I in the Empire

Week 3 -- The Russian Revolution; Marxist-Leninist Communism
Week 4 -- The Versailles Conference; the aftermath of WW I and the 1918 Influenza Epidemic

Week 6 -- Totalitarianism; The Rise of Totalitarian States
Week 7 -- World War II; the Holocaust
Week 8 -- Beginning of the Cold War; De-Colonization and the Cold War
Week 9 -- Neo-Colonialism; Latin America and the Third World
Week 10 -- Islam; Israel/Palestine
Week 11 -- Gandhi and India; The Gandhian Model
Week 12 -- The Japanese Exception; Asian Industrial and Military Power
Week 13 -- Mao Zedong, China, and the Asian Resurgence; Vietnam
Week 14 -- Collapse of the Soviet Union; the Post Cold War World
Week 15 -- Environmentalism, Technology, and Urbanization; Globalization and Human and Civil Rights

PART IV: PURPOSE AND NEED

1. Explain the department's rationale for developing and proposing the course.

HIS 1596G is being developed as part of an overhaul of the World History component of the General Education curriculum. The shift is away from broad, undefined survey courses and toward defined surveys around specific historical topics or issues in world history. The narrower focus will permit these courses to better develop critical thinking skills and model historical interpretation by concentration on a set of specific issues appropriate to the given topic. The courses will also better alert students toward the specific themes of a given courses, allowing students to select topics that will more directly engage their interests.

HIS 1596G in particular focuses on the twentieth century and its creation of the modern world system. Emphasis is placed on the people and events that most dramatically shaped the political, economic, social, and technological relations of the contemporary era.

a. If this is a general education course, you also must indicate the segment of the general education program into which it will be placed, and describe how the course meets the requirements of that segment.

HIS 1596G is part of the general education curriculum under the "Humanities" section of the Humanities and Fine Arts segment for the following reasons:

1. History is a Humanities discipline located in the College of Arts and Humanities.
2. HIS 1596G focuses on reading and interpreting historical sources and data within the tradition of humanistic scholarship.

b. If the course or some sections of the course may be technology delivered, explain why.

2. Justify the level of the course and any course prerequisites, co-requisites, or registration restrictions.

HIS 1596G is general education course that requires no prerequisites.

3. If the course is similar to an existing course or courses, justify its development and offering.

- a. If the contents substantially duplicate those of an existing course, the new proposal should be discussed with the appropriate chairpersons, deans, or curriculum committees and their responses noted in the proposal.

HIS 1596G duplicates some of the content of HIS 4820 The World in the Twentieth Century. That course, however, is an upper division/graduate course seminar designed to substantially engage issues of historiography and historical interpretation.

- b. Cite course(s) to be deleted if the new course is approved. If no deletions are planned, note the exceptional need to be met or the curricular gap to be filled.

HIS 1596G is a revision of HIS 1592G, which is to be deleted from the curriculum.

4. Impact on Program(s):

- a. For undergraduate programs, specify whether this course will be required for a major or minor or used as an approved elective.

n/a

- b. For graduate programs, specify whether this course will be a core requirement for all candidates in a degree or certificate program or an approved elective.

n/a

If the proposed course changes a major, minor, or certificate program in or outside of the department, you must submit a separate proposal requesting that change along with the course proposal. Provide a copy of the existing program in the current catalog with the requested changes noted.

PART V: IMPLEMENTATION

1. Faculty member(s) to whom the course may be assigned:

Roger Beck, Anita Shelton, José Deustua, and any other qualified faculty

2. Additional costs to students:                      None

Include those for supplemental packets, hardware/software, or any other additional instructional, technical, or technological requirements. (Course fees must be approved by the President's Council.)

3. Text and supplementary materials to be used (Include publication dates):

Chatterjee, et al, The 20th Century: A Retrospective (2002)

McKay, et al, The History of World Societies (2009)

Moss et al, Twentieth Century. Readings in Global History (2007)

PART VI: COMMUNITY COLLEGE TRANSFER

If the proposed course is a 1000- or 2000-level course, state either, "A community college course may be judged equivalent to this course" OR "A community college course will not be judged equivalent to this course." A community college course will not be judged equivalent to a 3000- or 4000-level course but may be accepted as a substitute; however, upper-division credit will not be awarded.

A community college course may be judged equivalent to this course

PART VII: APPROVALS

Date approved by the department or school: 10/13/11

Date approved by the college curriculum committee: 11/30/11

Date approved by the Honors Council (if this is an honors course): 2/16/12

Date approved by CAA: 3/8/12

*In writing-active courses, frequent, brief writing activities and assignments are required. Such activities -- some of which are to be graded -- might include five-minute in-class writing assignments, journal keeping, lab reports, essay examinations, short papers, longer papers, or a variety of other writing-to-learn activities of the instructor's invention. Writing assignments and activities in writing-active courses are designed primarily to assist students in mastering course content, secondarily to strengthen students' writing skills. In writing-intensive courses, several writing assignments and writing activities are required. These assignments and activities, which are to be spread over the course of the semester, serve the dual purpose of strengthening writing skills and deepening understanding of course content. At least one writing assignment is to be revised by the student after it has been read and commented on by the instructor. In writing-intensive courses, students' writing should constitute no less than 35% of the final course grade. In writing-centered courses (English 1001G, English 1002G, and their honors equivalents), students learn the principles and the process of writing in all of its stages, from inception to completion. The quality of students' writing is the principal determinant of the course grade. The minimum writing requirement is 20 pages (5,000 words).
