Dean Herbert Lasky Retires After 38-Year Career at EIU

Dr. Herbert Lasky, Dean of the Honors College, announced his retirement effective June 30, 2004 after a 38-year career at EIU. Throughout his tenure, Dean Lasky has distinguished himself as a faculty member in the field of history, as an administrator, mentor to students, and friend of the University. Among his brightest accomplishments was the establishment of the Honors Programs in 1982. During his 22-year span with Honors, Dean Lasky expanded the programs from 56 students to nearly 700 today. In January, 2003, the Board of Trustees recognized the importance of Honors to the University by approving the creation of the Honors College to house the diverse set of programs for academically talented students.

As a devoted advocate for the campus community, Dean Lasky consulted with a series of Presidents and Vice Presidents through the years resulting in many positive influences on academically talented students. Among the programs he developed for academically talented students are: University Honors, a general education program; Departmental Honors, a series of discipline specific requirements; Undergraduate Research, a forum for faculty-mentored student research; and Honors Study Abroad, a program for integrated overseas study. Commenting on Dean Lasky's many contributions, Dr. Blair Lord, Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs noted, "Few individuals in the history of the University have had a more significant impact on academic quality than Dean Lasky. The current success of the Honors College is a testament to his determination and vision as well as his ability to work with a diverse array of individuals on campus and in the community."

Dean Lasky grew up in New York City and earned his undergraduate and graduate degrees from New York University. In 1966, Dean Lasky accepted a position in the History Department at Eastern. Dr. Margaret Messer, Assistant to the Dean, has worked closely with Dean Lasky for the last 11 years. "Dr. Lasky has a magnificent ability to challenge and motivate both students and staff. I have personally benefited from his mentoring and guidance through the years as have many others."

Dean Lasky recently reminisced about his years at EIU observing, "I am most proud of the hundreds of students, both past and current, whose ability and drive make the Honors Programs vibrant and productive. I leave the University secure in the knowledge that the Honors College will continue to progress and flourish for many years to come."

To honor Dean Lasky, the Association of Honors Students has created a scholarship in his name through the EIU Foundation. The scholarship will recognize students who have made a contribution to the organization.

"Dean Herbert Lasky has made a tremendous positive impact on the Honors College at Eastern Illinois University."

-President Hencken

The Honors College of EIU invites you to a retirement reception in honor of Dean Herbert Lasky in the 1895 Room of the University Union June 29, 2004 from 3:00-5:00 p.m. Cards may be sent to Dr. Lasky at: The Honors College - Booth House, 600 Lincoln Ave., Charleston, IL 61920.

New Presidential Scholarship to Attract Academically Talented Students

Louis V. Hencken, EIU President, has announced the creation of the Presidential Scholars Program to support the recruiting of academically talented students. Describing the program, Hencken noted that "The Presidential Scholars Program will provide unique opportunities for the intellectual and personal development of academically talented students at a level commensurate with their abilities."

The program allows twenty incoming freshmen with high ACT scores and top high school grades to receive paid tuition and fees for four years and engages students in a rigorous schedule of academics, research, service and leadership. Students participate in distinctive programming including individualized faculty mentoring and will be candidates for national scholarships to support graduate work, research, and travel.

Commenting on the program, Dr. Herbert Lasky, Dean of the Honors College, noted that "The Honors College is gratified to be able to offer full scholarships and individualized programming to such outstanding students. We have great expectations for their future."

Funded out of private donations, the goal is to raise a $1.5 million endowment to support the program in the future. Although the financial goal is three or four years away, the first group of incoming freshmen will receive scholarship awards in the Fall 2004.

Students will have the opportunity to meet with business professionals at companies such as Caterpillar and exchange ideas with students at other European Universities. Dr. Christie Roszkowski and Dr. Roann Kopel direct the program.

Cassie Martin, senior Biological Sciences major from Bethany, has earned a research summer internship with the prestigious National Science Foundation at the University of Kansas.

Thomas Leslie, senior Education major from Decatur, won the University's highest scholastic honor, the Livingston C. Lord Scholarship.

Ryan Ervin, a senior History major with teacher certification from Pawnee, IL is the recipient of the prestigious 2004 James Madison Memorial Fellowship. Anita Shelton, Chair of History, announced the winner of this highly competitive national award observing that Ryan will receive up to $24,000 towards his graduate education at a school of his choice. Winners from around the country will have the opportunity to attend a four-week Summer Institute on the Constitution at Georgetown university.

Dr. Terry Barnhart, faculty advisor for the fellowship, noted that James Madison Fellows typically take their place as leaders in the field of History and social studies education. "The James Madison Fellowship is a mark of professional distinction signifying academic excellence and a commitment to responsible, civic minded secondary education as model scholars-teachers." Dr. Barnhart congratulated faculty mentors Drs. Debra Reid, Michelle LeMaster, and Michael Shirley. "The excellent teaching and advising of these colleagues" Dr. Barnhart noted, "gave Ryan an excellent foundation for a successful application. Faculty mentoring is essential to the entire enterprise."

AWARDS DAY 2004

The Honors College recognized 40 graduates of the University Honors Program, 9 graduates of the Departmental Honors Program, and 10 students in both programs on Awards Day, April 4, 2004.

Dean Lasky presented Honors cords to students graduating Spring, Summer, or Fall semester 2004. Also, several scholarships were presented during the ceremony. The scholarships awarded during the ceremony included the Charles Austin, Jr. Scholarship, the K.C. Summers Buick Toyota Scholarship, the Dorothy Davis Bunge Scholarship, and the Rachael Richardson Scholarship.

The Distinguished Honors Faculty Award

was also given to a member of the Faculty during the ceremony. Each year with the Honors Council's approval, the honors students themselves choose a faculty member whom they think is deserving of this high honor. This year Dr. Vince Gutowski was chosen for this honor. Dr. Gutowski is a professor in the Geology/Geography department.

In addition, during this year's Awards Day the Association of Honors Students presented their scholarship that they created in honor of Dr. Lasky and his years of service to the Honors College.
