why am I interested in and what can I contribute to the President role?

I became passionate about managing the Indian Student Association (ISA) after having such a fulfilling year as secretary last year. Working with the executive team, I was able to personally observe the beneficial effects we have on creating a community that is encouraging for Indian students. As President, I cannot wait to use my refined abilities and upbeat attitude to lead the ISA to even higher heights.

I have a thorough awareness of the needs of our members and the workings of the ISA thanks to my time as secretary. Because of the numerous on-campus events that have sharpened my interpersonal, organizational, and communication abilities, I am confident in my capacity to lead effectively. This diverse background enables me to lead creative projects that highlight our dynamic culture and reach a larger audience in addition to overseeing the ISA's daily operations.

My goal for the ISA is to establish a setting that encourages social interaction, academic support, and cross-cultural contact. My goal is to plan interesting activities such as mentorship programs that link first year and senior students, career workshops led by Indian experts, and cultural festivals. To establish an inclusive campus community, I also intend to work with other cultural institutions.

My commitment, aptitude for leadership, and background in the ISA make me an excellent contender for president. To build a strong Indian student community at our university, I am eager to collaborate with the executive team and members.
