

Sociology–Anthropology Club

Eastern Illinois University's Sociology–Anthropology Club is a student-run organization open to all students interested in sociology and anthropology, regardless of major. The club provides opportunities to interact with students and faculty outside the classroom, engage in both social and service activities on campus and in the community, and gain leadership experience.

