

BACHELOR OF ARTS IN HISTORY TEACHER LICENSURE IN SOCIAL SCIENCE

MAKE THE WORLD A BETTER PLACE, STARTING IN YOUR OWN CLASSROOM. BECOME A HIGH SCHOOL SOCIAL STUDIES TEACHER.

Good social studies teachers help build a better world by broadening students' knowledge of human history and behavior, and they equip students to better understand the choices we make and have made—individually, as a community, as a democracy, and as a global community.

Your ability to change the world for the better starts in our classrooms at Eastern Illinois University, where you can take courses that encompass the diversity of human experience and in all of the social studies disciplines. Within our program you can earn an endorsement in another social studies subject – or even add an interdisciplinary minor. Our students enter high school classrooms as early as freshman year, and throughout the program we embed rich clinical and professional development experiences that mean students are well prepared for student teaching.
